POETRY FESTIVAL
Saturday, June 3

10:00 a.m. – 12:00 p.m.

Delaware County District Library, 84 E. Winter St., Delaware

Space Junk: An Eco-Poetry Workshop is sponsored by the Ohio Poetry Association and will be led by Dr. Susann Moeller. Moeller will introduce participants to the topic of garbage in space using a variety of documentary clips. She will provide a brief introduction to various elements of poetry and a sample reading to help you toward the conclusion of a guided writing process. Coffee and light refreshments will be served.

Free and open to the public, no registration required.

2:00 p.m. — 6 :00 p.m.

Stratford Ecological Center, 3083 Liberty Rd., Delaware, OH

Poetry at Stratford: A Celebration of Nature is benefit poetry event. After a welcome and brief reading in the main building, guests will embark on a nature hike where they will hear poets stationed throughout the preserve read their work. Guests will then return to main building for a Haiku Death Match hosted by apiarist and haiku poet Dave Noble. Please note that events are rain or shine and family friendly; the trails are easily accessible. Featured readers are Joanna Schroeder, Louise Robertson, Juan Armando Rojas Joo, Fred Kirchner, Susan Hendrickson, Sayuri Ayers, Chuck Salmons, Aimee Noel, Fred Andrle, Susann Moeller, Pat Hurley, Natalie Noble, and Mindy Hall. Light refreshments served.

Tickets are $5/person, $10/family, available online at www.stratfordecologicalcenter.org/store or by calling (740) 363-2548. 100% of proceeds directly benefit Stratford Ecological Center.

8:00 p.m. — 10:00 p.m.

Perkins Observatory, 61 S. Sandusky St., Delaware, OH

Poetry at Perkins Observatory: In Celebration of the Night Sky! is also a benefit reading event. Eight poets will read work related to the cosmos, to be followed—weather permitting—by night sky viewing through the open dome. In case of clouds or rain, guests will enjoy a guided tour of the observatory led by director Tom Burns. This year's readers are Dave Noble (host), Charlene Fix, Geoff Anderson, Louise Robertson, Mark Jordan, Izetta Thomas, Herbert Woodward Martin, Pat Hurley, and Amit Majmudar.

Tickets $10 each. LIMITED SEATING AVAILABLE! Tickets available by calling (740) 363-1257. As always, 100% of proceeds directly benefit Perkins Observatory.
